That is so frustrating I have an agent for EV 9 0 but that only works with Entourage.. Saints Row 2 is gigantic in its scope and may take more than 50 hours to get 100% completion.. While some may call this insensitive, I say 'why so serious?', as many gamers don't really play games to fall in love with their characters; ask my friends who still play that outdated Counterstrike, rejoicing when they shoot their foes dead! Most of the missions involve heavy shooting and explosive cut scenes that are likably cheesy and humorous.

The best part is that the game does not spoon-feed by beginning with simple tasks like drive to destination, drop someone etc.. The main character can be customized anytime, and everything about him/her body and physique can be altered.

It has plenty of core missions, secret mission, activities and diversions, strongholds that are mostly tongue-in-cheek in tone; so you never feel sorry for executing someone gruesomely, even your close ones in the game.. Thanks Chris for the help Anyone know where I can find an EV agent for Mac Outlook 2011? I tried calling technical support but they say I need to talk to downloading first before the technical people can help me.. However, I do find the game to be limited in a way that most missions take place in the city and isn't as diverse as 2005's magnum opus GTA San Andreas that took you from the city to countryside, desert, industrial area and back to the city.
